

Start seeding some carrots now and keep planting them every two weeks until early fall. This is called succession planting. It will provide you with a carrot harvest throughout the fall season!