

Should I use my full seed packet at one time?

A full seed packet might be too much for planting at one time in a home garden.

Try these tips:

1. If your seed ages well, save it for next year.
2. Use it throughout the year through succession planting.
3. Take the leftover seeds and try growing microgreens indoors!

