

Featured Farmer of the Week

Who: Jon and Aki Riggs

What Farm: Riggs Family Gardens in Roseburg, Oregon

What Foods: Tomatoes, zucchini and other squash, rhubarb, eggplant, melons, figs and much more

Where You Can Find Them: Coos Bay Farmers' Market, Umpqua Valley Farmers' Market, and Champion Club Pickup and Delivery

About the Farmers: Riggs Family Gardens started in 1995, so this is their 26th season. They have three gardens in three locations, including a dry farm located alongside the Umpqua River. Dry farming, which uses natural upward-wicking seepage, produces fewer but tastier tomatoes and sweeter melons. They also have a 25-year-old mission-fig orchard. In the spring, they specialize in outdoor-grown lettuce salad mixes. Jon is 69 and Aki is 63, but strong coffee and happy customers keep them going!

This material was funded in part by USDA's Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program - SNAP. USDA is an equal opportunity provider and employer. Oregon State University, Oregon State University Extension Service is an Equal Opportunity Provider and Employer.
