

Can flowers help me grow food?

Different flowers attract different types of pollinators, such as bees and butterflies, which help food crops grow.

